

The President Says

Something may be lost by not "getting together" in the Assembly periods, but whatever may be lost, we should all gain more when we get into the remodeled room and can both see and hear.

The Assembly and entertainment programs planned are well worth while. We hope to be able to use the Horace Mann Auditorium by October 10, and the main Auditorium by December 1.

UEL W. LAMKIN,
President.

HORACE MANN SCHOOL IS IN NEW BUILDING

Laboratory School Becomes Unit When High School Joins Grades.

With the opening of the fall quarter, the Horace Mann Laboratory School became a complete unit on the college campus. From nursery school and kindergarten to high school, the students are now housed in the fine new building which was finished last year but not completely furnished at that time.

Though the lower grades have been at work in the new building for several months, the upper grades and the high school remained in the administration building until the beginning of the present quarter.

Students and faculty members alike are very well pleased with the new building, as well they might be. Modern in styling and construction, it is as pleasing to the eye, inside and out, as it will be useful in the years to come. And with the fine new equipment which the building possesses, it should be exceedingly useful in the future, not only as an adjunct of the college, but as a complete educational plant in itself.

A tour of the building reveals many interesting features to the casual visitor. Perhaps the most noticeable of these are the stone used in the interior of the building and the pleasing color schemes that predominate in the decoration of the various rooms, all of which are fire-proofed and sound-proofed for the safety and convenience of the students. Still other quickly noticeable advantages are the lighting and the Venetian shades, which are standard equipment on every window in the building.

Your reporter found the library, the auditorium, the home economics laboratory, and the gymnasium to be the most interesting parts of the building. The library is located on the second floor, about half way down the east side of the corridor, where students may conveniently study between classes. It is similar to the college library in organization and decoration, with built-in bookshelves and cases lining the walls. Trophies taken by the Horace Mann athletic teams, placed along the tops of the shelves, add interest and color to the room. There are, however, no central stacks accessible to the students, as in the college library.

Another interesting part of the building is the auditorium, which is not yet completely furnished, but should be within a week or two, according to H. R. Dieterich, superintendent of the school. Seating capacity will be large enough to accommodate several hundred students, more than enough for all the students in the combined grade and high school classes and, possibly, to take care of the college students who may use the auditorium, pending completion of the remodeling of the college auditorium. The high school auditorium occupies the school auditorium occupies the

The home economics laboratory, located on the second floor above the auditorium, is another spot that college students, and especially home economics majors, should find interesting. Here are shining white tables, cabinets, sinks, a refrigerator—in short, everything a home economics unit needs, to delight the eye of the high school girls and faculty instructors who take pride in good equipment. The equipment is all of the most modern style and design.

Faculty Dames Meet
The Faculty Dames' club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. R. E. Baldwin with Mrs. F. R. Anthony, Mrs. Albert Blumenthal, and Mrs. E. A. Davis as assisting hostesses. Mrs. Eugene Klempel was in charge of the program.

Mr. T. E. Dorn talked to the club on "Consumers Agencies".

Mrs. Allen R. Burks, the former Helen Baker, B. S. 1925, has organized a new room in the Van Horn grade school, in Kansas City, this fall. She will have charge of this room until a regular teacher is employed.

Dr. Smith Writes of Wayne University

A letter from Dr. Margaret Ruth Smith, who was director of personnel for women at the College until last summer, says that she is now in Detroit, Michigan, at Wayne University. Her mother, Mrs. F. J. Smith, is with her.

Dr. Smith has the title of professor of education. She is in the personnel department, where she is working on a new system of records. Her task is no small one, for there are about 15,000 students in the university.

The program of Dr. Smith includes some teaching. She will have a class in Administration of High School Guidance. At present she is observing; her work will begin about December 1.

She writes that she is enjoying Detroit very much as she already had friends there.

Two Artists Are Luncheon Guests

Student Committees Have Charge of Details.

Mrs. Bernice Setzer, speaker on art for the Elementary Program of the Teachers Association, and Miss Ellen Morrison, president of the art division of the Missouri State Teachers Association, were guests at an informal reception and luncheon given yesterday at Hotel Linville.

Mrs. Setzer is Director of Art of the Des Moines, Iowa, schools; and under her leadership the schools of that city have developed a program which has attracted nation wide attention. During the past summer she was invited to carry to others information about her work with the teachers enrolled in the Art Workshop of Northwestern University at Chicago. She is a member of the Board of Directors of the Western Arts Association, and has held many offices of importance in art education circles.

Miss Ellen Morrison, able Director of Art in the St. Joseph educational system, artist as well as art teacher, is known as a leader in art circles in Missouri. She is President of the Art Division of the Missouri State Teachers Association.

Miss Olive DeLuce, chairman of the Art Department at the College, and national president of the art division of the National Education Association, Mrs. Setzer, and Miss Morrison were introduced by Ocie Rhoades, Maryville, president of the Art Club.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Setzer, Miss DeLuce, and Miss Rhoades.

The decorations and place cards were designed by Robert Turner of Platte City, past president of the Art Club. The place cards were small wooden plaques with black printed lettering. A large palette, with cat-tails representing the brushes, was used on the speakers' table.

Committees for the luncheon were: Posters and Publicity: chairman, Aurora Bruce; Max Adams, Glen Dora Lehman, Sales; chairman, Edwin Patton; Anabel Anderson, Mildred Goldner, Ruth Meyers, Martha Sue Zimmerman, Place Cards: chairman, Robert Turner; Mary Louise Karns, Jeanne Lewis, Jean Martine, Margaret Stafford, Robert Turner, Martha Zimmerman, Menu and Table Decorations: chairman, Agnes Kovitz; Marceline Wiley, Marian Davis, Lucille Gripp, Jane Warren.

Former Student Will Go to Buenos Aires

Mr. Frederick Lambert and Mrs. Lambert, the former Miss Lucille Mason, sail November 2 for Buenos Aires, South America, where Mr. Lambert will be employed for three and one-half years.

Mr. and Mrs. Lambert are now living in Chicago where Mr. Lambert has been employed as an accountant. They were married during the summer of 1937.

Mrs. Lambert was a student of the Maryville State Teachers College from 1934-1937. Mr. Lambert attended Ohio University.

PRESIDENT OF STUDENT BODY GIVES REPORT

Tells of Work of Annual Hollister Conference; Other Students Go.

Robert Turner of Platte City, president of the Student Senate, attended the annual Hollister Conference from June 3 to June 11. Delegates were from Arkansas, Missouri, Oklahoma, and Texas.

The student president reports that several prominent educators delivered lectures and led in the discussions. Dr. Henry Wieman, an outstanding philosophical adventurer of today, brought an inspiring message to the delegates each day of the conference. His topics included a discussion of "Living Today," "Democracy," and "The Christian Faith." Dr. Wieman is from the University of Chicago.

Dr. T. Z. Koo, Secretary of the World's Student Christian Federation, Mr. Turner thought was a picturesque figure in a long grey Chinese costume and black pants. He brought his views of "Civilization and Culture" to the group. Perhaps the most inspiring and effective feature of the conference, according to Mr. Turner, was the meditation period. It was conducive to creative thinking and gave great inspiration to those poetically inclined.

The group was divided into commissions, each commission having a leader or leaders. A report and bibliography was then prepared by each. The various commissions formed were: Associations on the campus, Steps Toward Peace, Developing the Freshman Program, Community Problems in the Southwest, Relation of Men and Women on the Campus, the Philosophy of Living, Worship, and the Commission on Student Government.

Evening meetings and discussions were held in addition to the day meetings. Varied recreation was participated in by delegates and leaders alike. The entire group learned and enjoyed various folk dances and sports, including badminton, ping pong, and horse shoes. A trip to the School of the Ozarks, a cooperative high school about five miles from the camp, a boat trip, and the annual international banquet were outstanding on the recreational program.

The very attractive cover design for "The Atom," Hollister publication, was worked out by Mr. Turner. Additional students from the College who attended the conference were: Morris C. Baker, Calinsville; Ema June Garrett, Maryville; Leiland Hamilton, Bedford, Iowa; Mary Midget, St. Joseph; and Lois Langland, Spring Grove, Minnesota.

A total of two hundred fifty-two students and faculty attended.

PRESIDENT GIVES AWARD FOR BEST BOOK COLLECTION

Bibliophile Prize Given Last Year Was Won by Mary Ann Bovard.

The Bibliophile Prize of $25.00 awarded annually by President Lamkin to the senior student who has, during his college years, collected the best personal library was won last commencement by Miss Mary Ann Bovard of Maryville. This was the first time the award was made.

Since the award is new, many students may not understand clearly what the Bibliophile Prize is, who may win it, or what the conditions of it are. The regulations, posted in the library and on the President's bulletin board, are reprinted in this issue of the Northwest Missourian so that students may keep them in mind.

The idea of the Bibliophile Prize has spread among a dozen or more colleges since 1931 when Mr. A. Edward Newton, a distinguished Philadelphia bibliophile and author, printed in the Atlantic Monthly an article called "Books of One's Own" in which he described a project he had inaugurated at Swarthmore College. He offered an annual prize of $50.00 to the student who during his four years of college collected the best collection of books. By "best" he did not mean "expensive," but carefully edited and printed books which best serve the personal needs of the student. He believed that books of one's own are a bulwark of strength against discontent and failure; that the habit of reading is "a foolproof insurance policy, making possible continuous and assured pleasure, notwithstanding what the circumstances of life may be." He wished to deny the current opinion that a collection of books is a rich man's hobby, and to testify to the richness of reward that intimate experiences in books can bestow upon those who own a few books which they can enjoy. Expensive, rare editions or handsome bindings, fine as they are, are not as important for cultivation of tastes in books as such inexpensive, well-edited editions as are published by many of the well-established publishing houses.

Mr. Newton's plan has been followed at Smith College where Marian Dodd of the Hampshire Book Shop offers $50.00 worth of books and where in 1939 there were eighty entries for the prize; at Wellesley College, Scripps College, and Mills College in California, Wesleyan University, University of Oklahoma, University of California at Los Angeles, University of Minnesota, University of Pennsylvania, Connecticut College for Women, Antioch College, Haverford College, Wells College, and Randolph-Macon Women's College. A fund of $1000 was established at the University of California at Berkeley by an anonymous donor to provide an annual bibliophile prize to seniors. Mr. W. H. Winterwood, an alumnus of Purdue University, offered an award of $100 to a Purdue senior, saying he had long believed that neglected in schools had too long neglected literature and the love of books.

The students in this Northwest Missouri State Teachers College should be grateful to President Lamkin for offering this annual prize and should become increasingly more interested in meeting the regulations governing the prize. That students may have some aid in the discrimination of books worth owning, proper editions, and other bibliophilic details, Dr. Ruth Lowery has been asked to serve as consultant. Students who are interested in the award may consult her at any time.

EXPERT WOULD WARN AGAINST PROPAGANDA

Dr. Wolfe Says This Country Is Happy Hunting Ground of Propagandists

Dr. Henry C. Wolfe of Ohio, expert on foreign affairs and a distinguished author and lecturer, compared the world situation today to a gigantic jig saw puzzle in which many pieces fit and where there are spots where no pieces fit.

Speaking before the first general assembly meeting of the Northwest Missouri Teachers Association this morning, Dr. Wolfe said, "the world situation is enormously complex. Unfortunately, it is so complex that no one knows the complete story."

In World of Propaganda
"We are living in a world of propaganda. United States is a happy hunting ground for the propagandists. Soviet Russia and the United States are the only great nations not now involved in the present war. In Soviet Russia no propagandists are permitted, while in the United States propagandists swarm from abroad. These propagandists are interested in exploiting only the interests of their employers."

"Many moving pictures made in the United States which are sent abroad are a type of propaganda. These pictures are not, however, a deliberate form of propaganda. Some foster good will. Others do much harm. 'The Grapes of Wrath' was welcomed in Soviet Russia and shown everywhere as a typically all-American situation. The Russian leaders said to the people, 'how fortunate you are that you don't live in a capitalistic country.'"

France Was a Target
"Propaganda in the world today is obscure. In Germany, propaganda is the greatest industry. France was the target of German propaganda, so cleverly done that the Frenchmen were unaware of it."

"Perhaps the most outstanding job of propaganda has been done by Soviet Russia. The most successful political social and economic system in the world has been held up as a model one. The Soviets put over their smelly job of propaganda. They didn't go to the most successful group of people. They went to the thinking people, the ministers, college professors, college students and writers."

"I never could understand how a minister of the gospel could approve of the godless government of Russia."

Denmark Most Progressive
Dr. Wolfe stated that he believed Denmark in some ways to have been the most progressive country in the world. "Denmark had no slums, no poverty. There was a prevailing spirit of cooperation and hard work. In Denmark, there was a leveling from the bottom while in Russia the leveling was done from the top."

"The Finns had built up a splendid democracy," Dr. Wolfe said. "Every man, woman and child in Finland knew why he was fighting. Finland cracked only from the outside, not from the inside. Only great nations like France crack from the outside."

Dr. Wolfe told the teachers to keep their eyes glued on Germany. "The key to the world affairs is Germany," said Dr. Wolfe. There are side shows to the right and left, in the Far East, South America and in Italy. Keep your eyes on the spotlight that plays on Germany in the center of the stage.

Germany Is the Center
"Germany is the center of everything. Yet, I say to you what happens in the Far East, South America, and what happens in Germany."

Honors Memory of Mary Louise Turner

A memorial service, by Alpha Sigma Alpha, for Mary Louise Turner was held Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock in the Junior Trianon Room of the Hotel Muchlenbach at Kansas City.

Mrs. M. Sharp, a national officer, read the service before a group of 150 delegates from seven chapters of Alpha Sigma Alpha. Tapers were lighted by Mary Lou Melvin and Marian Belle King, and music was provided by an ensemble from the Emporia Kansas chapter.

New emblems, which have recently arrived, were also discussed. Officers of the organization are: President, Emma Isabel Brown; vice-president, Vida Bernau; secretary-treasurer, June Kunkel; historian, Martha Miner; intramural manager, Virginia Ramsey; minor sports manager, Dorothy Triplett; and hockey manager for this season, Colleen Hult.

Library Has Some 25 Thousand Books

Takes 180 Magazines and Ten Newspapers; Will Add Improvements.

There are approximately twenty-five thousand books in the college library. About twelve hundred and twenty-five of these volumes were added last year, Miss Brumbaugh, assistant librarian, said in an interview with a Northwest Missourian reporter.

Miss Brumbaugh spoke of the great decrease in the loss of books since they have been moved from the old library to their present housing. Before this time the loss through actual theft of books was from three hundred fifty to three hundred seventy volumes annually. Last year, in four quarters, the loss was forty-eight books.

This is still entirely too many books to lose outright and it is hoped that even this figure can be greatly reduced without having to close the stacks completely.

In addition to the books in the stacks, the college subscribes to about one hundred and eighty magazines and ten newspapers. The library also receives many of the newspapers published in this district. A case making them available to the students is on the landing of the south stairs.

When sufficient funds have been obtained to furnish the rooms at the north end of the lower hall, students will have access to a browsing room and a museum. It is hoped that these improvements can be made in the not too far distant future.

Mr. Wells, librarian, commented very favorably on the good order that has been maintained in the reading rooms but added that it might be possible to improve the attitude of students upon entering the front door so that the main hall would be more quiet.

Frank Hayden, who took a major in agriculture and received the B. S. degree in 1939, is now enrolled for Saturday classes at the Iowa State College at Ames. Mr. Hayden teaches at Rhodes, Iowa.

The Granada, long a gathering place for College students, has been placed "The proprietor, Mr. George Gibbs, has sold the business to Mr. D. H. Barker of Valley Ford, Kansas."

The best flour has been saved until last. Fifty pounds of baking powder are used in a year's time! This kitchen is well equipped with modern conveniences such as steam cookers and dish-washers. Twenty-five pounds of potatoes can be cooked in the steam cooker in three minutes. Much of the cooking is done by electricity. All dishes are washed in the electric dish washer except the pots and pans. The latest addition in equipment is a new refrigerator.

Seventeen college boys are employed. They have organized themselves into the Hashishins Union. Four women are employed as full-time cooks.

EDITOR SAYS 1941 TOWER WILL BE REAL TREASURE

Mr. Lon Wilson Joins Faculty of College

His Work Will Be with Men Living at "The Quad."

(Editor's Note: Through an oversight the name of Mr. Lon E. Wilson was omitted from the list of new faculty people given in last week's Northwest Missourian.)

Mr. Lon E. Wilson, a new member of our faculty this year, is a graduate of Maryville State Teachers College, having obtained his B. S. Degree in Education in 1928. Prior to his graduation, Mr. Wilson was prominent in school athletics. He was captain of the football team in 1925.

Mr. Wilson comes to us from Rock Port, Missouri, where he was coach at the high school for two years. During the last four years he has been superintendent of the Rock Port High School.

Mr. Wilson has done graduate work at Colorado State Teachers College, Greeley, Colorado, and Missouri University, Columbia, Mo.

His work here will be with the boys at the Quad. He will have charge of the Dormitory, housing, and personnel work with the boys. Mr. Wilson also has charge of the assigning the boys to their work and regular courses.

There are a number of things that Mr. Wilson would like to accomplish this year. He is following the general program for this dining hall. Mr. Wilson wants to establish or set up, a sort of tradition at the Boys' Quad. He wants to make the living standards, rules, habits, and regulations of that organization such that the boys who are living and working there can be proud of having had any connection with it.

Class Makes Field Trip to Clarinda

Visits State Hospital; Hears Interviews.

In an effort to secure first hand knowledge of their particular field of social study, twenty-three members of Dr. Albert Blumenthal's social psychology class made an interesting field trip last Friday afternoon. The group, composed of people from Clarinda, Iowa, where they made an intensive visit at the Iowa State Hospital for the Insane located in that city. Arrangements and permission for the class to visit the institution had been secured by Ellen McCreditt, a member of the class and a resident of Clarinda.

Arriving at the office of the Director, they were escorted through the institution by Dr. Golden of the hospital staff. Dr. Golden was particularly interested in seeing that the group secure a close-up of the type of people being cared for at the institution. Accordingly, he very graciously consented to interview several of the inmates in the presence of the students—a privilege not given to many visitors. This procedure was especially enlightening to the class, which is making a study of attitudes in life. The group was ushered through both the women's and men's wards though only women patients were interviewed.

The institution is one of the best of its type in the country, possessing a newly built, spacious cafeteria. No other like institution has one. One of the motives for building it was to give the patients some sense of responsibility by having to serve themselves and select their own food, thus possibly bringing them back to reality and cure. The building is over a mile in length, twisting and turning in its structure so that sunlight may penetrate every room.

The class returned with a greater feeling of sympathy for those housed therein, and with the hope of playing a part in society to accept as much as within their power the recurrence of insanity.

Those making the trip were John Anderson, Earl Bassett, Phyllis Danish, Dick Demery, Franklin Ewing, Ema June Garrett, Virginia Knapp, Vern Lewler, Herman Lind, Ray, Avella Lons, Ellen McCreditt, Florence McEoy, Robert McCue, Vaughn Means, Lawrence Oden, Walter Oursler, Mona Pennington, Peter Shaw, Glen Raudenbush, Eric Thompson, Francis Tobin, Leason Wilson, and Margaret Wilson. The group was under the direction of the instructor, Dr. Albert Blumenthal.

STAFF IS BEING PICKED

Business Manager Explains How Students Are to Receive Book Without Cost

"Has the thought ever entered your mind that twenty-five years from now you might wonder just who that blonde, petite little freshman was that you took to the Christmas formal? And if you happen to be that certain freshman, have you ever thought that twenty-five years from now you might like to know who that big, tall dark and handsome Casanova was that escorted you to said dance and whiskered sweet nothings in your gullible ear? Well, some day you will wonder these things, as well as many other, and so there has arisen in this campus a tradition, so to speak, in which the events of your college years are compiled into a book—'The Tower.' Thus, the 1941 staff of the Tower addresses the student body.

The "Tower" originated on the campus some twenty-five years ago, and through the ensuing years, only one "Tower" escaped publication. Although the first "Tower" may not measure up to the requirements for the 1941 one, it was published with the true spirit, and to these people who were pursuing an education at that time, it is truly invaluable because it is flooded with memories dear to the heart of each and every one of those people who helped to build the book.

The "Tower" is edited by a staff, headed by an editor and a business manager chosen from the Junior Class. Assistants are picked from the various classes excluding the seniors. The editor and the business manager proceed under the supervision of a faculty adviser, who at the present time is Mr. Roy Ferguson.

LeRoy Skatth Edits
This year's book, the 1941 Tower, is being edited by LeRoy Skatth and Emma Bird, editor and business manager, respectively.

Although the rest of the staff has not been permanently decided upon, the following men and women are acting temporarily as the Tower staff: Max Rush, Katherine Cockayne, Jack Shoemaker, Dennis Davidson, Helen Vincent, Mary Margaret Tilton, Eddie Phillips, Max Adams, Helen Cline, Jane Warren, Dan Emerson, Harvey Davis, Marvin Mohrhead, Betty Jean Campbell, Mary Lou Melvin, and Charlotte Barnes.

The aim of the Tower staff is to bring to the students of the college a book which relates in more or less detail all of the major activities and functions as well as many of the minor ones which occur during the school year. The book features campus views, class pictures, organizations, athletics, administration, and miscellaneous informal shots made during the year. It is, in effect, a record of your school year at M. S. T. C.

The Tower is financed by the students of the College, the budget being allocated from the activity fund. There is one exception to this, however. The students pay for their pictures which appear in the class section, as well as in various organizations.

Photography is usually handled by a commercial photographer who comes to the college to make the pictures. The pictures are made at a very nominal cost to the student. In the 1940 Tower the photography was handled by Mr. Edward Godey of Maryville, Missouri, who is contracted for the work again this year. The engraving is being done by the Burger-Paard Engraving Company of Kansas City, Missouri.

The cost of the Tower to the student is very reasonable and is funded as follows. If a student has been in school 3 consecutive quarters prior to the issuance of the book, he is charged only seventy-five cents. If he attended summer school the previous summer as well as the entire school year, his book is given to him free of charge.

Make Appointments Early
Just as the first of the year is busy for everybody, it is indeed busy for the Tower Staff. One of the main things which has to be done upon many others, is the photographing of the students. This has already started, and appointments for pictures as well as subscriptions for the Tower are now being made. Students may subscribe for the Tower and make picture appointments either on the second floor corridor or in Recreation Hall, where the pictures are being made. As a matter of convenience to students and the Tower staff, it is best that appointments be made and kept at a date as early as is convenient. Pictures may be made at any time between eight a. m. and four p. m.

NEW BEARCAT MAGAZINE

We have just seen a pre-view of the new Bearcat Magazine that is being published under the sponsorship of the "M" Club, Maryville's Lettermen Association.

The magazine is a sixteen page booklet with four-color covers, Maryville and Rolla football pictures, and the complete rosters of both teams. It was created to take the place of the antiquated programs of the past years.

The Bearcat Magazine will be on sale for ten cents a copy by all "M" Club men late this afternoon and at the game tonight.

It will make you a wonderful souvenir of the Bearcats' twenty-second consecutive football win—we hope.

Pep Groups Plan Elaborate Stunt

Spectators at the game tonight will be entertained by a very elaborate stunt which is to be presented between halves of the game. The College Band and the Green and White Peppers, under the direction of Mr. John Geiger and Miss Day Weems, respectively, will present an entertainment based on the theme of the World's Fair—the Trylon and Perisphere.

At the half of the game there will be a fanfare of trumpets and trombones, followed by the appearance of a band from each end of the field. The two bands, led by James Cook and Don Wilson, assisted by the twirling drum majorettes will unite in the center of the field and form the Trylon.

The Green and White Peppers, with Miss Betty Lindley as Captain, will give a twirling exhibition merging into the Perisphere. The climax of the show will be the Trylon and Perisphere illuminated by moving sparklers, while Miss Rosa Lee Roark sings, "God Bless America," accompanied by the band.

From the Dean

Last week end there was that mysterious something about the College that makes for loyalty to an institution:

You felt it in the group of anxious faced students gathered about the radio in the Old West Library;

You sensed it in the query of the busy professor: "How are our boys doing?"

You realized that it extended to others when the junior said: "Any news yet?"

When the delivery boy said: "We are holding our own!"

When the clerk in the store passed judgment: "That is a mighty fine bunch of fellows!"

When every citizen who greeted you added a word of praise which indicated that he felt that he was a shareholder in the organization that could do the job so well. (And may I add that I am glad he felt that way, for he really is);

You were aware that it permeated to wherever an alumnus was when you saw the pride with which the old grad threw back his shoulders and said: "MY SCHOOL!"

You could not but glow in the reflected glory of a community that gave fifty or sixty men a fine chicken dinner because the people of the community felt that these young men are ambassadors of goodwill for their community;

You walk about the campus and hear groups of students talking and you know that in this spirit there is that which makes for a more substantial college.

It is the Spirit of 7-6.

Regulations for Award of Annual Bibliophile Prize

GUILD WANTS COLLEGE FADS AND FASHIONS

Offers Remuneration to Students Interested in Costume Design.

The Campus Originals Guild of 259 Park Avenue, New York, is offering to a senior woman of the college the opportunity of becoming their representative on this campus, according to a letter received by Miss Marian B. Lippitt, Director of Personnel for Women. Others who are interested in designing are also being offered a chance to receive cash remuneration and nationwide publicity for original designs of dresses, costume jewelry, housecoats, or negligees that are submitted and accepted by the Guild. The girl selected as the representative of the Guild must be capable of handling the extra-curricular activity which will include sending in comprehensive reports during the school year telling of new fads and fashions on the campus, collecting designs and ideas from others and forwarding them to the Guild, helping the Guild to choose a suitable representative when she is graduated, giving personal suggestions or requests which she, as a college fashion leader, has to offer.

Her remuneration will be in the form of a bonus of 10 per cent of the amount paid for any design originated by a girl in the College and accepted by the Guild; a copy of the article as made from the girl's original design; an emblem showing that she is a delegate of the Guild; aid in securing employment, after graduation, in the merchandising, promotional, designing, or journalistic fields; and a chance for extensive publicity in the form of photographs placed in the "Mademoiselle Magazine" and recognition along with the designer of an accepted design.

Those who wish to submit designs also shall be well rewarded if the designs are accepted. Twenty-five dollars is paid for a design of a junior dress if it is accepted; ten dollars for a design for costume jewelry; twenty-five dollars for a housecoat or negligee design; and in each case the designer will receive the article as made from her original design. She will receive nationwide publicity through the promotion of her merchandise. Her name will appear in magazines and newspapers publicizing the article of an accepted design, perhaps with a photograph of the originator and the model designed by her. A certificate certifying her accomplishment and the aid of the Guild in securing for her employment in the designing, merchandising or promotional field after her graduation complete the list of benefits to be gained.

Rules for Designs

1. From time to time the Campus Originals-Guild will send S. O. S.'s to representatives for specific designs wanted in a hurry. However, at all times girls may submit any designs for clothes and accessories or any original "idea" or novelty, such as the popular ear-muffs of last year, which will be immediately considered for acceptance.

2. The name and the college attended must be written clearly on all designs.

3. Each design must be accompanied by a paragraph of explanation as to its practicality and appeal not only to the college girl but to the average young woman.

4. The name and the college attended must be written clearly on all extra sheets of paper which might bear the description of the designs.

5. It is the plan to keep the designs four months, if they are not accepted before; after which they will be returned with comments.

6. In case of the acceptance of a design the designer will be notified immediately and a release and the accepted design sent to her. When these are signed and returned to the Campus Originals Guild a check will be forthcoming immediately.

Without doubt many college girls have a keen desire to gain an entrée to the fashion field. Whether or not they are looking forward to careers as stylists, fashion editors, designers, or department store buyers, here is an opportunity to turn ability into ready cash and a possibility of a future fashion job.

The organization works hand in hand with a group of outstanding manufacturers of women's fashion, including accessories as well as clothes, to whom they submit the designs.

To Give Barndance

In honor of their new pledges and alumnae members, the Sigma Sigma Sorority will have a "Barndance" at the Country Club, Saturday night.

Ginger Snaps

Wanted: 880 pairs of ice creepers for students to wear on the freshly paved floors of the administration building.

Beautiful Music: the dance and symphony orchestras playing different tunes simultaneously as heard from a third story room.

Overheard: Yes, his career came between them—he played bass in the orchestra.

In a History Class: "It is 25,000 miles to China." But who wants to take that route?

Further Additions to Directory

1. If I have a previous engagement, sounds genuine, call again.
2. When you find yourself locked out, ring the doorknob.
3. If you see a pretty little number, call her up.
4. If you cannot keep your accounts straight, call 3509 (the business manager).
5. If you can't find the answers, call information.
6. If you get in a tight place, call the Extension Department.
7. If she is an incessant chatter, you might just as well "wait on the line."
8. If you want the Bears to win from the Rolla Miners, call "Hold the line!"
9. If you are tired of your old date and want a new one, call 429, the Newman Club.
10. If you need your tonsils removed, call the operator.
11. If the stair steps are full of batteries, call up and say "You've shut me off."

Maid in the household: "Mr. Blank has the funniest name for his dog."

Her Young Man: "And what might it be?"
Maid: "Stopper!"
(The dog was an Irish setter; its name was "Cork.")

How do you like that, girls?

And then there is the reporter who spends two hours on the trail of a story about an organization that doesn't exist on the campus. The little club that wasn't there?

CLOTHES CHATTER

No one—or at least no woman—ever believed for a moment the old saying (write as "now I take my pen in hand") that goes: "Clothes do not make the man." (Any chance suggestion of a rhyme there was completely unintentional.) To turn to the subject at hand, which is "Clothes, and Their Psychological Importance," let us bring our attention to a sharp, a very sharp, focus upon all the implications (or insinuations) of such a topic.

First, most people have no trouble in agreeing that a ritz outfit gives to both Joe College and Betty Coed, and to sundry individuals who chance to be outside the education at aura of jittershugging and college swing, a definite sense of well-being and self-confidence, otherwise known as cock-sureness. This is particularly true of a woman with a new hat, and particularly with a red hat—the brighter the red the better. The owner of it may look bilious when wearing it, but what does that matter if she feels like Cleopatra in a new barge?

If we study clothes—this relates to women's clothes—intently from a psychological angle—we immediately see that what we thought were angles were anything but. To continue our psychological study we soon uncover this momentous discovery: that the modern miss has a little-girl complex; this is no doubt her only way of escape from a world filled with war and humanities tests.

To investigate our inept idea, look first at her hair. It's a long mass of girlish curls in nine cases out of ten, and usually has a hair bow snuggled in the curls on top. This hair bow, to be typical, should be red. The m. m. (modern miss) in case you don't follow also wears cute little fuzzy jackets and sweaters, or fuzzy, soft "Sloppy Joe" jackets; her dresses, as you doubtless have observed, are quite short usually extremely full in the skirt.

All this adds to the boy friend's conviction that he is robbing the cradle, and thus serves as a great protection to the shy and impressionable young lady.

The final touches of "little girlishness" are added by our heroine's footwear. She is the very epitome of fashion if she wears vivid knee socks—preferably red also—and "flat floogie" shoes, also referred to delicately as "barges."

The recent trend in millinery is also encouraging to those who love to look ten years younger than twenty. Round, off-the-face bonnets of fur or felt, ruffled or pleated, leave one with the feeling that just one article is lacking in the lady's ensemble—a rattle!

The prime thing for the student to take to college is a spark that may be kindled into a burning fire; and the only absolutely essential thing for him to find at college (whatever college it may be) is a teacher who knows how to fan his spark.—President J. B. Watson, Arkansas State College for Negroes, led by Iola Argo, will be sung.

The Stroller...

(By Request Student Senate)

In 1939 the Stroller was murdered in cold blood. At least those who put him off the staff thought he was gone forever. But, like the proverbial penny, here he is again. Perhaps, like the cat, he has nine lives.

Back in the good old days when the Stroller was a highly respected member of the staff and beloved of the student body, his identity was kept a deep and dark secret. He strolled where he willed; he gleaned a good livelihood, for she was paid by the column inch. He went to all the men's bachelor sessions; she did not miss a single gab-fest of the women students; she—or was it he?—even sneaked into faculty meetings.

One time, he slipped up and peeped over the shoulder of the adviser to the staff of the Northwest Missourian and caught her drawing a picture of the president—and told the president, who thought the picture did not flatter him. It is a known fact that if his identity had been disclosed at that time, there might have been the lowest mental in the printing office to pay. Lucky Stroller that he was anonymous!

One time she failed to get any notes into the paper because the Office Cat, snooping around, discovered her jokes and made way with them and usurped the column himself.

He has had his ups and downs, the Stroller, but the worst luck was last year. He was kicked and cuffed about; a poll of the students was made to show that the Stroller was given to blackmailing, that he was simple-minded, that she was scarcely tolerated, that no college student wanted to read what the Stroller might have to say. And so the Stroller was murdered; at least the word went out that his had been killed. One who loved the Stroller well wrote his epitaph and grieved in silence that the Stroller was no more. His best friend was accused of having killed him.

Then a day dawned, a day when dark things were laid bare to the light. The Stroller, a shadow, a ghost, like Tinker Bell, who was called back to life when the children cried, "We believe in fairies!" heard a cry of "We want the Stroller back again!"

He listened again and recognized the voice. It was the voice of the Student Senate! Joy! Joy! He had thought the students did not want him, and here the highest-tribunal of the student government was calling him.

He is back again! He hopes everybody wants him as much as the Student Senate does. He promises to be kind. If she offends, she will be sorry. He will try to avoid cliques; she will try to keep his anonymity.

He has not had much time this week, but she got around a little. He picked up a "Note to the Feminists" from Leslie Somerville, stating that he'll soon have the radio on his car in running order.

She stole a peek into the crystal ball used on Walk-out Day and saw Kenton Thompson declaring in the spring of 1942 that the 915th golf ball which he had just donated to the lake at the golf course definitely would be his last.

He tried to tell Riley Dunham and Austin Fatig the winner of this year's world series, but she did not have much luck.

One day while she was sitting in Social Psychology class he saw Vaughn Means actually sleeping so soundly that he couldn't even tell Dr. Blumenthal what his dream world consisted of.

The best sleuthing he did was one day when he tagged Miss Kampmeier into a room where a freshman class was soon to meet. Wanting to talk with the instructor, Miss Kampmeier sat down on the front seat to wait until he came. A group of freshmen came in. They saw Miss Kampmeier and sang out, "Teacher's pet! Teacher's pet! Sitting on the front seat!" The joke was not on the violin teacher.

The girls on the third floor of Residence Hall all "got the bird" this week. The Stroller did not hear the details, though somebody said it was just a swallow.

The Stroller wants to know who the boy is who does not know where Residence Hall is.

Collecting Kinds of Barbed Wire Is Hobby of College Professor

Surprising as it may seem, there are examples of about four hundred different kinds of barbed wire existing today. This fact was revealed by Dr. Frank Horsfall of the College agriculture department. Dr. Horsfall, only last summer started a collection of his own, and at this time has about sixty varieties.

These specimens have been gleaned largely from Nodaway County. Dr. Horsfall said that barbed wire was invented in 1837. It has specimens, that date back as far as 1898, 1874, and 1875.

He has divided his collection into the unusual specimen group, a group consisting of four point barbs, etc. He classifies his new specimens, as he gets them.

In addition to this, his newest collection, Dr. Horsfall has a collection of many interesting antique farming implements and other curious objects. Some recent additions to this collection are: a fluting iron, which is used to make fluting for dress trimming. This iron consists of two pieces. These are finely ridged so that when the top piece is pressed against the lower, the cloth between them is finely pleated, or fluted. Dr. Horsfall has also added a barrel-hoop maker to his collection.

This collection is on exhibition in the agriculture room in the southwest corner of the building.

Dr. Horsfall said that he wished to add an appeal to the students of the College to help him collect different specimens of barbed wire. Most of these varieties may be found about the county he said, and any three foot lengths of odd kinds of wire will be greatly appreciated.

College Sorority Has Home Coming Banquet

A founders day and homecoming banquet will be given at noon today by the Phi Phi chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha. The banquet will be given at the Linville Hotel.

The toast mistress will be Mary Kyger, Stanberry. The program to be given during the banquet is the following: roll call, Nyda Snyder, King City; alumnae response, Mrs. Frederick Muler, Maryville; vestment to pledges, Iola Argo, Burlington Junction; pledges' response, Mrs. Albert Kuehn, Maryville; convention report, Miriam Wagoner, sponsor, Alpha Sigma Alpha songs, led by Iola Argo, will be sung.

YOU SHOULD KNOW

That the College has a fine collection of original paintings in Social Hall.

That the greater number of the paintings were the gifts of graduating classes.

That several of the paintings have more than doubled in value since the College acquired them; that one, at least, is worth now more than ten times what the class paid for it.

That the etching by Thomas Hart Benton was a gift from the artist to the class of 1939 when the class committee expressed a desire to buy one of his oils and found that they could not afford it. The class presented to the College the etching, as well as its purchased gift, an oil painting by John Corbino.

BEARCATS TRIM WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY BY ONE POINT

Kurtright Kicks an Extra Goal to Win for Twenty-Second Victory.

PADILLA IS BLOCKED

St. Louis Team Misses Its Kick And Loses Chance of Tying Score; Final, 7-6.

In their last game before starting their M. I. A. A. schedule the Bearcats won over Washington University at St. Louis by a score of 7 to 6. The failure of Schwenk, Washington backfield, to convert a point was all that stood between them and a tied game, which would have ended the Bearcats' winning streak at 21 games, undefeated and untied.

Washington was penalized heavily and Maryville took advantage of the yardage gained to keep the Bears from the goal line.

The scoring was done in the first half, and the last half was marked by small gains on plays and several fumbles.

Jack Padilla, Iowa flash, had little chance to "show his stuff" as he had in the two previous games since he had been scouted by the Bears at the Chadron game and was blanketed from the first.

Maryville's score came at the first of the second period. Washington kicked and Bennett took the ball on the 36 yard line but fumbled it after he was hit. Schottel recovered, ran a few yards, and later, after a fumble, advanced twenty-nine yards for a touchdown. Kurtright converted the point.

Not long afterward Schwenk collected for a pass which put the ball up to Maryville's 25 yard line. After losing 2 yards on two plays and an incomplete pass, Schwenk made a nice pass to Lindlow who was over the line. Schwenk, who had been hard hit in skirmish, failed to convert the point.

Fumbling was the downfall of both teams. In the third period an attempted kick by the Bears folded up and Maryville, trying to take advantage of the break, attempted to pass but lost 20 yards on two attempts.

In the last period excitement ran high when, with a minute to go, the Bears had the ball on Maryville's 29 yard line after a 36 yard gain in 20 seconds. A Washington man dropped a pass when he was almost over the line. Maryville interrupted the next attempt to pass but the game was over before the team could run a play.

The Bearcats suffered the least injuries of any game this year. Larry Loos received a sliced hand during the first period but he is expected to be back in the game with the Miners tonight.

The starting line-up was as follows:

Maryville	Pos.	Washington
Breckenridge	L.E.	Devine
Farrell	L.T.	Spafford
Reno	L.G.	Allen
Loos	C.	Vranesh
Gregory	R.G.	Barnett
Kruse	R.T.	Jurek
Walker	R.E.	Turley
J. Kurtright	Q.B.	Lutz
Padilla	L.B.	Schwenk
Darr	R.B.	Prost
Schottel	P.B.	Ady

Coaches Comment on Horace Mann Football

After their defeat by Oregon last Friday afternoon, the Horace Mann High School football team will start work on a passing offense, according to Coaches Harold Hull and Harry Darr.

Surplus, who was taken from the line in the last game and was replaced by R. McGinness, will be returned to his former position.

Coach Hull says that whenever their defense starts clicking to stop the overhead work of the opposing team, he believes their showing will be better.

The team has two more home games, with Fairfax on October 18, and Corning on November 1.

Miss Dora B. Smith spent the week-end in Liberty with her father and mother.

Coach Predicts No Easy Victory

Sees Hard Struggle With Miners from Rolla

Coach Ryland "This-can't-go-on" Miller is at it again.

Yes, poor Mr. Miller, for several years head of the one-man Maryville Gridiron Defeatist Club, (and incidentally, when his other duties allow, chief STC football mentor) is conceding his MIAA championship the formidable Rolla Miners when the Coal Heavers invade the Bearcats' lair Friday evening in the homecoming game.

Coach Miller tossed aside the crying towel long enough, however, to predict that the Rolla Miners and the Springfield Bears would prove to be Maryville's two toughest grid opponents. Ray season, and further, that if the Bearcats succeeded in defeating these two aggregations, they could coast to the MIAA championship.

Rolla boasts two of the conference's most able passers in Coals and Cunningham, and also the league's toughest tackle in Crum. Accordingly, Coach Miller has been on the same line importance of an efficient aerial defense in his practice sessions this week; the Bearcats displayed a glaring weakness in this department Saturday afternoon in their tussle with Washington University.

The Miners have one of the strongest lines in the conference. They succeeded in holding the Washington powerhouse to a scoreless tie two weeks ago, while playing without the services of Crum, their all-conference tackle.

The Bearcats, however, have faced some very formidable grid opponents; indeed, they have spilled some mighty tough ball clubs in their day, and Maryville State Teachers' College is pulling for that valiant little band of boys who have placed the school in the "Football 400" and the hearts of every fan and fan.

Hats off to the Bearcats!!

College Would Enlarge Museum

The Museum Case by the main hallway on the second floor of the Administration Building of the College is for temporary exhibits of suitable nature, says Miss Olive S. Applications for it are to be made to the museum committee, which will make arrangements as far as possible at the dates requested. Applications will be considered in the order received.

The College is actively interested in increasing its Museum collection by gifts and loans. Faculty, students, and the public are urged to assist the committee in locating such material as that listed below.

Phi Sigma Epsilon Has Full Calendar

Initiates New Members; Plans Year's Program.

On September 12, Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity held its first meeting of the new school year to discuss matters of importance and to draft a new social calendar for the school year. Pledges and new pledge rules were also discussed.

The following Sunday was the day set for the active initiation ceremony, and on that day Louis Lamson and James Bennett were given their initiation into the fraternity. A short business meeting was held to determine the program to be followed on Tuesday night which had been decided upon as the Smoker night.

Tuesday night brought much activity and many pledges to Phi Sig. The evening was spent playing bridge, and other games, while other groups got together and carried on talk-fests. Later fellowship singing was held. The gathering was favored by a special rendition given by Alumnus Harold Brueggeman and LeRoy Skatth. Following this, refreshments were served, and at eleven o'clock the Smoker was brought to a close.

At the next meeting, Wednesday, September 26, the fraternity initiated Dr. De Jarnette, chairman of the Speech department, into our organization as honorary members. Jack Garrett was given the active initiation at this time. The acceptance of an invitation to Mr. Arthur Lindstrom, Superintendent of Rural School Music in Nodaway County, to become an associate member was read to the assembly. After this, the pledge initiation ceremony was given to fifteen pledges who had accepted invitations to pledge the organization.

At present, plans are being made to give a banquet on Wednesday, October 9, in honor of Dr. Kelly, who has been an honorary member of the organization and who will leave shortly to take over his new duties at the Michigan State Normal, Ypsilanti, Michigan. The fraternity is indeed sorry to see Dr. Kelly leave, for he was always interested in the organization and was well liked by not only the members of the fraternity, but also by the student body of the college.

The new social calendar bids well for the coming year. The leader, President Strong and his executive staff, are doing fine work in getting the fraternity to roll along. The house at 303 West third street is a decided improvement. Being justifiably proud of their house and fraternity, the members invite visitors to stop in and see it. It cannot be missed, for a new neon sign displaying the Greek letters, P. S. E. places in the front arch of the porch.

Independents Have All-School Mixer

The All-School Mixer, sponsored by the Independent Club, last Friday night was a great success. There were some 300 students attending which gave the Club assurance that the students want more mixers.

The fun started at 8 o'clock and continued until midnight. Faculty chaperons were: Dr. and Mrs. Albert Blumenthal and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Main.

Mr. Wallace Oursler, president of the Independent Club, said that the next dance sponsored by the club will be October 23, the "M. S. T. G. Pow Wow," immediately after the football game. Music is to be provided by the College Dance Band.

The Independents will sponsor another mixer December 7 at which time they plan to have a new sound system and plenty of the latest records.

Freshman Girls Are Entertained at Club

The freshman girls at the Newman Club House, 311 West Third, were entertained by the upperclassmen at an informal surprise supper Tuesday evening, October 1.

The freshmen were the victims of the upperclassmen after supper, inasmuch as they were asked to present the "program." Plans called for extemporaneous speaking, and dancing were the most popular types of entertainment. The ever-popular traditional art of "buttoning" was supervised by the house president, Miss Dorothy Triplett. The upperclassmen discovered that the freshman girls are the modest, possessors of much promising talent. After the "program" the girls danced, read, or visited together.

The Misses Margaret and Katherine Franken, housemothers, sponsored the party.

Peppers Initiate New Members at Banquet

The Green and White Peppers will initiate new members of their organization at a banquet, which will be given just preceding the ball game tonight.

The banquet will be held at the Phares Tea Room at 6:30, and the group will go in a body to the game afterward.

Miss Day Weems, sponsor of the organization has announced that this custom will be followed throughout the football season.

The Peppers are repeating, by request, their mass baton drill of last year. They are working in conjunction with the band to present this spectacular stunt for the public at the half of the game.

Club Plans Activities

The Dance Club is planning a dance and also an assembly program for the winter quarter. Miss Day Weems, sponsor of the club, has announced. Plans are also being made to furnish a floor show for the Independent Club dance, which is to be held October 25.

The club roll includes 53 girls and 9 boys. Two new officers were elected at the first meeting. These were: Mary Jane Johnson, vice-president; Lola Moore, reporter.

Defense a Uniting Spirit

In regard to American defense, Dr. Wolfe said, "of course we've got to have defense. Don't forget, though, that national defense is not a question of planes—it comes down to towns, villages and people. Our national defense is only as strong as the people believe it to be. We need more of the uniting spirit of the Danes."

"We must stop the class warfare and political disintegration of the country. We need to be sure that anything we do is not a selfish policy."

"The world today needs one great power of peace in a world which is in a state of disintegration. We can perform a far greater service than by actually entering the conflict of war," said Dr. Wolfe.
